Julia Harris is a dedicated member of the firm's Immigration Practice Group. She primarily supports attorneys and clients with the employment-based green card process, including managing the entire PERM recruitment process, preparing I-140 petitions, and filing adjustment of status applications.

Julia plays a key role in providing clear communication with clients regarding the status of their petitions and ensures the accurate and timely filing of the petitions. She also facilitates the exchange of information between attorneys and clients during the PERM recruitment process.

She earned her Bachelor's degree in Paralegal Studies from Roosevelt University. Before joining Masuda Funai, Julia gained legal experience through an internship at a Chicago-area law firm, where she provided support on personal injury and criminal defense matters.
